

Leadership as Legacy

Overview

QUT Leadership Institute Overview.

The QUT Leadership Institute is where Australia's most influential leaders develop the judgement, clarity and foresight to lead through complexity and leave things stronger.

Purpose

QLI is dedicated to developing leaders capable of strengthening organisations, governing with integrity and shaping the future with confidence. The Institute exists to build leadership capability that creates measurable impact through strengthening organisational performance and navigating complexity with clarity and purpose. Grounded in real-world practice, applied research and a global perspective, QLI builds the kind of leadership that travels through our institutions and society.

Positioned within QUT

Established within one of Australia's leading modern universities, QLI brings rigour, reach and a deep research platform together with real-world leadership wisdom and practice.

What makes QLI different?

QLI delivers leadership differently. Learning is built on live challenges and hands-on practice, drawing on evidence that spans every field leadership touches. Researchers and practitioners work side by side, bringing what the evidence shows together with what experience has proven.

This happens in conversation and collaboration with tri-sector partners and associates across private, public and not-for-profit organisations, each contributing a different vantage point on the same complex landscape. The result is leadership that evolves with the world, built for what's needed now and what's coming next.

Be the lighthouse

The world needs leaders who are the lighthouses for the people they serve. Anchored by their clarity of purpose, strength of character, consistency of signal and reach beyond self, they help others navigate uncharted challenges. Leadership as Legacy is the principle that runs through everything we do.

A Distinctive Model

The Institute tracks leadership capability uplift, governance confidence and organisational impact, demonstrating measurable return on leadership investment.

partners to reimagine leadership.

Why This Matters Now

The need for capable, ethical, resilient leaders has never been greater. The moment to develop them is now.

The world's organisations are navigating a landscape defined by rapid technological disruption, increased governance scrutiny, declining institutional trust and growing complexity across public and private systems.

Queensland is at an inflection point. As the host city for the 2032 Olympic and Paralympic Games, Brisbane sits at the centre of a significant shift in Australia's regional and international standing. The Asia-Pacific is the world's most consequential economic and strategic theatre. Queensland's leaders will help shape what happens in it.

The QUT Leadership Institute was built to meet that moment. Strengthening the leaders who become lighthouses for the people they serve, QLI develops people who govern with integrity, execute with confidence and leave organisations and society stronger.

QLI's vision: to strengthen the leaders who'll guide Australian and Asia-Pacific organisations through whatever comes next.

A Collaborative Leadership Ecosystem

Leadership shaped by those who have led, informed by those who study how leadership works.

QLI brings together a distinguished network of industry partners, leadership practitioners and academic experts who contribute directly to programs and leadership dialogue. Through these collaborations, organisations gain access to leadership insight, distinguished leaders, capability development and strategic influence within a global leadership ecosystem.

Partnerships

QLI partners with organisations across the private, public and not-for-profit sectors to design leadership experiences that strengthen performance, strategic capability, integrity and responsible governance. Foundational Partners build their own leaders, and stronger leadership for their organisations, their communities and the region. Together, they shape signature programs around the themes that matter to them, share co-branded thought leadership, and gain priority access to global immersions, exclusive experiences and transformational leaders.

Leaders in Residence

Outstanding leaders with significant global reach and impact shared through QLI. They contribute to programs, mentor leaders and shape thought leadership, multiplying their influence and magnifying their impact through every leader they work with.

Institute Fellows

Distinguished leaders who've led significant organisations through disruption, complexity and high-stakes decisions. They bring that lived wisdom into every program and dialogue, the kind of clarity that only comes from having stood firm when conditions were at their hardest.

Expert Arena

An interdisciplinary scholar network drawing on QUT's world-class research and translating it into insight leaders can act on today. Consistent, rigorous and built to travel, because the best thinking is elevated when it reaches the people who need it.

Situated in Meanjin (Brisbane) on the Country of the Turrbal and Yugara people, with engagement across Australia, the Asia-Pacific, Southeast Asia and beyond, QLI connects local leadership with global perspective.
