Discover how to design and implement strategies for an enterprise that is future fit.

eXplore QUT's contemporary suite of professional development options for Enterprise Leaders.

How do innovative companies secure a competitive edge? They continue to reinvent themselves by fuelling a pipeline of visionary leaders.

In a world that is changing exponentially, the skills needed to lead have evolved. In order to manage teams more effectively and become a successful leader, professionals need to identify their personal leadership style and adapt their approaches.

What is Enterprise Leadership?

Enterprise leadership encourages leaders at a pivotal stage in their career to shift their focus to organisational outcomes in addition to their own individual or team needs. It is a driver of cross functional and cross business unit collaboration and can drive more effective strategy and execution.

What are Enterprise Skills?

To display enterprise is to show initiative and resourcefulness to solve complex problems for your organisation. This involves emotional and social intelligence, innovation, critical and strategic thinking and digital savviness.

For leaders, the growth into enterprise leadership can be daunting, but it doesn't need to be. Whether you're an established or aspiring enterprise leader, QUTeX's Enterprise Leadership series provides you with the framework and capability to understand complex environments, adapt to change and guide your organisation to success.

With a suite of flexible learning Professional Development Modules designed by leading experts across QUT's faculties, you'll benefit from the ability to pick and choose the right study areas for you.

Each module harnesses transdisciplinary knowledge and is developed using the latest in innovative learning design, so you can use what you learn today, in your workplace tomorrow.

Who should participate?

If you are currently working in a professional capacity as a manager of projects, manager of complex stakeholder groups or a supervisor of staff, then enterprise leadership is for you.

“ Like many others, I underestimated my capabilities. I knew how to get things done in my workplace but I couldn't have articulated the theories and frameworks to explain why what I was doing worked.

Completing this program gave me a language that allows me to engage with senior leaders within the organisation; to anticipate their needs and drivers; and to be prepared with sound evidence-based approaches to improved business outcomes.”
