Creating a Future Ready Workforce with the Australian Army

In 2020 QUTeX became the preferred provider of a professional military education product for the Australian Army.

The Ryan Review (2016) proposed a number of recommendations to ensure that the Army was future-ready. Recognising that size and technology would not be an advantage in future conflict, a strategy was formulated around increasing intellectual and decision-making ability leading to the development of a new professional development initiative, COVE+.

In April 2020 the Graduate School of Business/QUTeX was successful in winning the contract for the first year of development of COVE+.

COVE+ is a series of co-designed and customised learning solutions across 70 topics, to provide a library of self-paced online learning modules.

COVE+ is available at no cost to learners and is targeted at soldiers in the first 15 years of their Army service after which they typically attend military college for their specific military education. All serving Army personnel can choose units of general learning to benefit their professional career as well as their personal life. It is expected that participation in the program will enable participants to tackle a broader range of complex problems through improving critical thinking skills.

The goal is for Australia to be better prepared to outpace, out-manoeuvre, and out-think conventional and unconventional threats, and to create a truly future-ready workforce able to operate in an era of accelerated warfare.

Transformational Capability Drives Success for Logan Water

Logan Water embarked on a significant transformation journey with the vision of becoming one integrated business, with the customer at the centre of everything they do.

The newly formed leadership cohort of Logan Water required enhanced capability, to support the transformation. Logan Water desired leaders who could see themselves in the change and openly work together to sponsor an integrated workplace.

One of the key elements to the success of this program was having the whole management team learn and work together. Learning together helped them develop a greater self-awareness of their leadership behaviours to grow and become a more effective, aligned and innovative leadership team.

The Leadership Development Program was designed to feature as part of the transformation program, realising new ways of working through building the skills and capabilities of the Logan Water Workforce.

Participant feedback about the tools and skills they learned was positive, particularly about how they are now better equipped to manage their teams through this time of change and growth.

This program has helped stabilise and integrate the leadership cohort for Logan Water, which was a key element of the Transformation Program.
