Course Outline

The Bachelor of Arts allows you to design your degree to suit your own interests and career aspirations. You will complete 24 units of study.

* You are REQUIRED to complete:

- One multidisciplinary major (7 units) from
 - International and Global Studies
 - Society and Change
 - Ethics and Human Rights
 - Community Studies
 - Australian Studies

* The remaining 17 units of study will consist of your choice from the following options:

- An additional multidisciplinary major (7 units)
- An Arts discipline major (6 units) from
 - Geography
 - History
 - Sociology
 - Political Studies
 - French
 - German
 - Indonesian
 - Japanese
 - Mandarin
- An Arts minor/s in any of the multidisciplinary or discipline majors (4 units)
- A co-major, an approved university minor, or individual electives in another QUT course (up to 8 units)
- A work-based Internship (2 units)

International and Global Studies Multidisciplinary Major

The International and Global Studies multidisciplinary major is an ideal choice if you wish to work in areas that demand and value knowledge of trends and outcomes in internationalisation, understanding of cultural diversity, knowledge of world regions, cultures and societies, and skills associated with global literacy. You may choose to concentrate on 'global perspectives' or 'international studies' (Asian studies, European studies or Pacific studies). You may combine this major with language study in Indonesian, French, Japanese, German or Mandarin.

Society and Change Multidisciplinary Major

The Society and Change major provides an multidisciplinary approach to understanding the dynamics of social change with particular emphasis on the environment, change and society, societies in transition, and the individual and society. You will acquire substantive knowledge on social and cultural aspects of change, and will be challenged to take a critical and analytical approach to your study. Many of the units provide case studies of social change, and as a graduate of this major you will be equipped with transferable analytical, research and interpersonal skills that are in demand in policy, research and community work.

Ethics and Human Rights Multidisciplinary Major

The Ethics and Human Rights multidisciplinary major provides you with the opportunity to develop as a socially responsible and responsive practitioner. Dramatic changes in the human condition, such as those already emerging from globalisation and biotechnology, will be a significant feature of life in the twenty-first century. This major will equip you with understandings, skills and strategies that will enable you to address change in ways that promote the well-being of individuals and communities. The major is organised around five themes: ethical understandings and theory, human rights, identity studies, ethics and technology and ethical practice.

Australian Studies Multidisciplinary Major

The Australian Studies multidisciplinary major examines past, present and future Australia from a variety of discipline and interdisciplinary approaches. Australian studies is a contested, endless conversation and the units reflect the many perspectives which researchers now adopt in trying to understand what 'Australia' is like as a society, a nation, a place and a home to indigenous and non-indigenous citizens. The major will equip you with knowledge about Australians and Australia and its role in the world. In addition, as a graduate you will have the confidence to engage in empirical and theoretical debates about what has happened, and should happen in Australia.

Community Studies Multidisciplinary Major

In the Community Studies multidisciplinary major the 'knowledge explosion' is addressed by an open-ended teaching and learning approach to equip you to better understand the communities to which you belong from past, present and future perspectives. As you get to know how communities are structured, you will consider what holds communities together and what undermines them, and consider how communities can be enhanced. The major encompasses the concept of community and a detailed investigation of community processes.

Minors

All of the multidisciplinary and discipline majors in the Bachelor of Arts can also be taken as four-unit minors. Note also that all QUT faculties offer agreed sets of units as 'university minors'.

Sociology Major

Sociology is an attempt to grapple with the issues and problems of a world experiencing change. You will study what makes us social beings and why both cooperation and conflict are recurring features of our social relationships. You will gain an understanding of the fundamental institutions of family, school, work and culture, and will be equipped to think intelligently and critically about them. You will acquire the skills of social analysis and policy development which are essential for a wide variety of professional employment.

Politics and History Major

The combination of politics and history provides a focus on the application of power in the contemporary world and also an understanding of how and why we have arrived at the social and political structures and processes that exist today. As a graduate with a politics and history background you will be equipped to enter occupations that require development and analysis of policy and administrative programs in both the public and private sectors.

Geography and Environment Major

Geography explains how and why natural environments, land use, settlement, economic activity, population and cultures vary from place to place, and how these elements interact to create distinctive and dynamic regional landscapes. The practical approach provides you with a sound basis, as a professional, for analysing human-environment linkages; population, social and cultural change; land use; settlement; and sustainable development.

Indigenous Perspectives and Issues Major

Indigenous perspectives and issues are central to the contemporary social sciences and to the creation of graduates who are skilled in the complexities of cross-cultural understanding and the acquisition of cross-cultural sensitivity. You will gain insights into Australian Indigenous perspectives and issues from the disciplines of humanities and human services, creative industries, education and justice studies. You will also develop skills associated with research ethics and protocols as they relate to Indigenous cultures and communities.

Human Services and Social Policy Major

Understanding our complex society and identifying emerging social issues and trends are key roles for human service and social policy practitioners. Community service agencies and for-profit industries seek out graduates with vocational skills that enable them to stay abreast of rapid social change and emerging trends. As a social science graduate you will be equipped to review, develop and administer social programs.

Gender and Sexuality Minor

Issues of difference and identity as they relate to the constitution of gender and sexuality are significant elements within social science investigations. This minor draws on relevant units from discipline areas such as humanities and human services, psychology, public health, justice studies and creative industries to enable you to analyse and challenge inherent presumptions about gendered/sexed bodies, as well as address the possibilities for alternative identity politics.

Peace and Conflict Resolution Minor

You will engage with important issues of contemporary global change and the way these may impact on diverse communities and individuals, conflicts that arise out of these situations, and approaches to resolving such conflicts. The units provide you with opportunities to pursue in-depth studies of human rights issues, identity issues and conflicts, and crisis intervention and resolution.

Minors

All the social science majors can also be taken as four-unit minors.

Note also that all QUT faculties offer agreed sets of units as 'university minors'.

Course Structure

This course consists of 16 units each from the Bachelor of Arts and Bachelor of Human Services. The arts course structure allows you maximum flexibility to mix and match study units in a diverse range of themes including international, Australian, contemporary, historical, environmental, ethics, social change and language studies. In human services, you will acquire a range of professional skills and will specialise in a practice field from child and family services, aged services, corrective services, disability services, or services to young people.

Refer to the Bachelor of Arts (HH01) and Bachelor of Human Services (HH02) entries for further details.

Professional Practice Placements

As part of the Human Services component, you will have the opportunity to apply knowledge and skills through two supervised, professional practice placements in human service organisations.

You will first explore the diversity of practice methods through the Introduction to Practice. You will undertake a total of 140 hours of volunteer placement/s in a human service agency.

Your theoretical and practical studies will culminate in a 36 credit point Advanced Professional Practice placement in your final year. This placement will generally reflect your specialised service context area. You will develop a learning plan in consultation with your agency supervisor and a university staff member. During this 400-hour supervised placement in a human services agency, you will further develop your assessment and intervention skills and your own practice framework. It may be possible to undertake this 12 week placement with an overseas agency.

These professional practice placements provide many valuable opportunities for networking within the human services industry.

Working with Children Check

As required by the Commission for Children and Young People and Child Guardian Act (2000), students must undergo a criminal history check and be issued with a Suitability Card (Blue Card) by the Commission.

As soon as you enter your enrolment program for the course, you must submit your Blue Card application to the QUT Student Centre immediately. You must hold a Blue Card to undertake activities in any unit which involves contact with children, including the required field studies blocks.

If you do not apply for a Blue Card immediately upon enrolment in the course and allow sufficient time for the police check and issuing of the Card, you will be unable to participate in the required activities and may need to be withdrawn from the unit(s) and incur both financial and academic penalty. It may take up to 8 weeks for the Commission to issue the Card. The application form is available at bluecard.qut.com.

Deferment

QUT allows current Year 12 school leavers to defer their undergraduate admission offer for one year, or for six months if offered mid-year admission, except in courses using specific admission requirements such as questionnaires, folios, auditions, prior study or work experience.

Non-year 12 students may also request to defer their QTAC offer on the basis of demonstrated special circumstances.

Find out more on deferment.

Professional Membership (Bachelor of Human Services)

Graduates are entitled to apply for membership of the Australian Welfare and community Workers. (Accreditation application is currently in process).

Course is under review

QUT is currently reviewing the Arts programs to ensure they continue to meet the needs of students and employers. As a result these programs may change in 2009 or may not be offered. You can register for updates on the status of these courses by visiting the Humanities website <http://www.humanities.qut.edu.au/>

Overview

An Honours course provides you with not just specialisation-specific knowledge and skills, but also generic capacities that are highly valued in the labour market. An Honours year may also lead to enrolment in a higher research degree and students who do well are encouraged to apply for scholarships to undertake further study. As an Honours student you will undertake a program of focused study supervised by a member of academic staff.

Entry Requirements

Normally students will apply at the end of the final year of their pass degree. Except where otherwise specified, applicants MUST have:

* completed a bachelor degree in the relevant discipline area from QUT, or a similar degree from QUT or another university; and

* achieved a level of attainment considered by the Faculty Academic Board to be acceptable for the purposes of proceeding to an Honours degree (normally a course grade point average of 5 on a seven-point scale).

Alternatively, candidates may be accepted for admission by the Faculty Academic Board after advice from the course coordinator regarding evidence of other relevant qualifications and/or experience.

It is preferred that you contact a member of academic staff or the course coordinator to discuss supervision prior to submitting your application.

Course Structure

The course consists of three coursework units and the equivalent of five units of supervised independent study, resulting in a 15 000-18 000 word thesis. The requirements for graduating are satisfactory (or better) performance in all units. The final mark for the course is determined on the basis of marks assigned in the coursework units The Logic of Social Inquiry, Literature Review, and the advanced elective, plus the mark awarded to the thesis, with weighting being given according to the proportion of credit points within the total. The Honours thesis will be marked by two assessors, one of whom will normally be external to QUT.

Part-time Course Structure

Part-time students, and students wishing to enrol mid-year, should contact the course coordinator for advice on alternative sequences of study.

Language Students

Language students will, where appropriate, do extensive work in the Literature Review and Honours Thesis units in the target language. Where feasible the Honours thesis will be written in the target language.

Course is under review

QUT is currently reviewing the Arts and Social Science programs to ensure they continue to meet the needs of students and employers. As a result these programs may change in 2008 or may not be offered. You can register for updates on the status of these courses by visiting the Humanities website.

Overview

In this double degree, you will complete an Australian Psychology Accreditation Council (APAC) accredited program of study in psychology and a Bachelor of Arts with a multidisciplinary major in international and global studies, society and change, ethics and human rights, community studies, or Australian studies.

Why choose this course?

The Bachelor of Behavioural Science (Psychology) provides a thorough grounding in the scientific bases of psychology, and deals with research and statistical methods that have wide applicability in psychology and other disciplines. You will complete core subjects in development, personality, social psychology, psychological disorders, learning, memory and perception. In your second and third years you are able to explore subjects in contemporary areas such as counselling and family therapy, forensic psychology, addictive behaviours and traffic psychology.

From the Bachelor of Arts you will also develop an understanding of society and the impacts of global, social, environmental and technological change. The high-level communication and social research skills you will acquire are valuable in a wide range of professions. You will gain analytical, research, report writing, communication and interpersonal skills which can be used across many disciplines.

After successful completion of the degree, you may pursue a career in a range of vocations where your skills are valued, undertake further study to become a registered psychologist, or seek postgraduate studies in psychology or other disciplines.

Career Options

The analytical, research and interpersonal skills acquired through the psychology units have a high degree of application in areas such as education, business, built environment, justice studies, health and sport. Some graduates choose careers in related professional and semi-professional areas such as counselling or audiology, which may typically require further specialist study. Other possible career paths include international affairs, government, community development and public policy. You may wish to pursue careers in professional areas of psychology, which will require you to undertake further study and be registered with the State Registration Board.

Recommended Study

Maths A, B or C is recommended.

Psychology Electives

Electives include psychology and gender, human sexuality, psychopharmacology of addictive behaviour, substance abuse, forensic psychology and the law, health psychology, social psychology, occupational psychology, counselling, advanced statistical analysis, and road safety and traffic psychology.

Professional Membership

The Bachelor of Behavioural Science (Psychology) is accredited by the Australian Psychology Accreditation Council. To pursue a career in a professional area of psychology, you must be registered with your State Registration Board. This currently involves completing a fourth year of study in psychology, e.g. Bachelor of Behavioural Science (Honours Psychology) or Postgraduate Diploma in Psychology, followed by either two years of supervised work experience or the completion of an appropriate higher degree such as Doctor of Psychology (Clinical), Master of Clinical Psychology or Master of Psychology (Educational and Development).

Career Opportunities

As a graduate of this course you will receive both a Bachelor of Arts degree and a Bachelor of Applied Science degree. This combination of degrees provides a valuable foundation for a wide range of careers in areas such as government, diplomacy, higher education and public service. Opportunities in tourism, translation, and the hospitality industry are open to those with a Language major. Complementary majors chosen from Arts and Science provide an excellent background for careers in environmental management.

Course Design

A feature of the course design is the flexibility and choice it offers. Students can tailor the double degree to their career interests by combining any one of the 10 majors that are available in the Bachelor of Applied Science (SC01) degree with a specialisation chosen from a wide range of offerings in the humanities.

The program is integrated so that students will study both science and arts units in each semester.

Professional Recognition

Relevant professional bodies for the Bachelor of Applied Science (SC01) are listed under the separate entry for the course. Eligibility for membership depends on the majors undertaken.

Those with advance standing may be able to undertake two Faculty unit.

Stream B is for students who have met English requirements but not prerequisite requirement for their degree, or who may wish to improve the standard of their academic English. These students may take one or two degree units (for credit) whilst enrolled in the University Certificate in Tertiary Preparation Program.

Both streams include intensive preparation for academic language, lateral thinking, research and presentation skills required for successful tertiary study. Small classes and dedicated staff ensure an excellent learning environment. Additional support is provided by Language and Welfare Advisers.

Alternatively, there may be some students who have already met both the academic and English requirements for a QUT degree entry, but who would prefer to undertake the University Certificate in Tertiary Preparation in order to prepare for academic study in a different tertiary environment.
