About the Enterprise Leadership Program

Learn the capabilities you need today, so you can use them in your context tomorrow.

Whether you're an established or aspiring leader, the Enterprise Leadership Program (ELP) gives you the framework and capability to understand complex environments, adapt to change and guide your team to success.

Designed by leading experts across QUT's faculties and harnessing knowledge across many disciplines, the ELP is developed using the latest in innovative learning design so you can use what you learn today in your workplace tomorrow.

Flexible learning designed for you

QUTeX offers ELP modules throughout the year, so you can choose to take your next step in professional development at a time that's convenient for you.

The modular nature of the program offers flexibility and versatility, allowing you to target the topics that you believe will lead to the promotion or career advancement you're seeking. You can choose as few or as many modules as you like.

A pathway to something bigger

Enrolling in the ELP can open the door to higher qualifications like a Graduate Certificate in Business, an MBA, or an Executive MBA.

You'll also enjoy the career boost from exposure to participants from government and industry and being a member of QUT's extensive alumni network.
