The Faculty

The Faculty of Law aims to provide courses appropriate to the needs of the legal profession, while encompassing subjects to broaden the experience of law students, and providing as practical an education as possible. Consequently, graduates from the QUT Faculty of Law find employment is readily available within the legal profession and associated fields.

A significant feature of QUT law courses is the option of combined degree courses, some of which are offered in conjunction with other tertiary institutions – Griffith University and the Darling Downs Institute of Advanced Education, for example.

The LLB degree, the combined degrees and the Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice are registered nationally by accreditation with the Australian Council on Tertiary Awards.

Both the LLB degree and the combined degree courses satisfy the academic requirements for admission to practice as a barrister or as a solicitor in Queensland. The combined Accountancy/Law course also meets the academic requirements of the professional accounting bodies. The Graduate Diploma in Legal Practice is a recognised alternative to articles of clerkship to a solicitor.

In addition to producing graduates who meet the needs of the legal profession, and lawyers with broad and practical experience, other major objectives of the Faculty of Law are:

- To avoid emphasising the mere acquisition of factual knowledge; to seek also to show the underlying concepts and principles of a subject.
- To encourage students to develop the facility for independent thought and critical analysis, and to be aware of the need for any change in the Law.
- To train students to apply the knowledge gained from their course in solving real-life problems.

- To induce in students an awareness of the moral and legal responsibilities of professional practice; a desire for continuing education.
- To undertake research and consultation to promote the professional and pedagogical development of staff members.
- To assist in areas of the community where a contribution can be made.
- To attain and maintain essential Australasian Universities Law Schools Association library standards in the Law Library.
