DESCRIPTION

This research project is being undertaken as part of a PhD research study by Garry Bagnell.

This aim of this project is to discover the nature of relationships formed by young adults, aged between 18 and 30 years old, using the internet, communications technologies, social media and social networking sites.

You are invited to participate in this research project because you are a student currently enrolled at a university or would like to participate remotely (ie telephone interview). You are between the ages of 18 and 30, are of any gender, from any social, political, cultural or economic background, you are able to read and converse in English, have access to a device (ie smartphone, tablet etc) and engage with social media and social networking sites for two hours or more each day.

PARTICIPATION

Your participation will involve either a face-to-face interview at the Library at Kelvin Grove campus or other agreed location, or a telephone interview or a zoom (a web conference) interview depending on suitability and convenience. All interviews will be recorded (ie audio or audio / visual). The interview will take approximately 60 minutes of your time.

Questions will include:

- What have you experienced in terms of connecting with people through social media?
- Do you find social media useful in terms of connecting with people?
- Are your relationships made online, offline or both?

Your participation in this research project is entirely voluntary. Your decision to participate or not participate will in no way impact upon your current or future relationship with QUT.

CAN I WITHDRAW FROM THE STUDY?

If you do agree to participate you can withdraw from the research project at any time without comment or penalty. If you withdraw after your interview, upon request, any identifiable information already obtained from you will be destroyed.

EXPECTED BENEFITS

It is expected that this research project will not benefit you directly. However, it may benefit a greater understanding about being a millennial in a digitally connected world. It is a locally based project but the outcomes will be useful in a global context.

RISKS

There are minimal risks associated with your participation in this research project. Apart from the inconvenience of being interviewed in a particular place at a particular time, there may be a potential for you to have some positive or negative feelings, desires or memories which may be triggered in the process of the interview.

If you experience discomfort or distress as a result of your participation in the research, QUT provides limited counselling services. Should you wish to access this service please call the Clinic Receptionist on 07 3138 0999 (Monday–Friday only 9am–5pm), QUT Psychology and Counselling Clinic, 44 Musk Avenue, Kelvin Grove, and indicate that you are a research participant. Alternatively, Lifeline provides access to online, phone or face-to-face support, call 13 11 14 for 24-hour telephone crisis support. For people aged up to 25, you can also call the Kids Helpline on 1800 551 800.

PRIVACY AND CONFIDENTIALITY

All comments and responses will be treated confidentially unless required by law. The names of individual persons are not required in any of the responses.

As the research project involves an audio recording:

- The recording will be destroyed 5 years after the last publication.
- The recording will not be used for any other purpose.
- Only the named researchers will have access to the recording.
- It is not possible to participate in the research project without being recorded.

Any data collected as part of this research project will be stored securely as per QUT's Management of research data policy.

Please note that non-identifiable data from this research project may be used as comparative data in future research projects or stored on an open access database for secondary analysis.

CONSENT TO PARTICIPATE

If you agree to participate in a face to face interview, you are invited to sign the attached consent form. If you participate remotely (ie via telephone or audio/visual) consent may be expressed orally.
